Regarding claims 38, 39, 41, 51-54, the prior art fails to teach a method of routing network traffic comprising "said input layer, an intermediate layer, and an output layer are formed on a single semiconductor substrate, a network switch being configurable to enable a first region of said single semiconductor substrate selected from said input layer, said intermediate layer and said output layer, while disabling two regions of said single semiconductor substrate selected from said input layer, said intermediate layer and said output layer," which is considered in combination with other limitations, as specified, in the independent claim 38.

Regarding claims 42-50, the prior art fails to teach a method of routing network traffic, said method comprising "said input layer, an intermediate layer, and an output layer are formed on a single semiconductor substrate, a network switch being configurable to enable a first region of said single semiconductor substrate selected from said input layer, said intermediate layer and said output layer, while disabling two regions of said single semiconductor substrate selected from said input layer, said intermediate layer and said output layer," which is considered in combination with other limitations, as specified, in the independent claim 42.

Regarding claims 55-59, the prior art fails to teach a network switch comprising "said input layer, an intermediate layer, and an output layer are formed on a single semiconductor substrate, a network switch being configurable to enable a first region of said single semiconductor substrate selected from said input layer, said intermediate layer and said output layer, while disabling two regions of said single semiconductor substrate selected from said input layer, said intermediate layer and said output layer," which is considered in combination with other limitations, as specified, in the independent claim 55.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
